Boo is a 16 year old boy, that is filled with life. His passion for his family is second to none. Boo has a terminal illness known as Dystrophic Epidermolysis Bullosa which is the most serious form of this disease. There is no known cure or treatment for this disease. The medical costs and daily costs of taking care of a child with this disease are extremely high.

Your participation and any donations will help him and his family afford the cream and bandages that are needed daily for him, and also allow them to purchase a much needed lift for their van so they can take Boo places other than just the hospital for his treatments.

Please contact the following people if you have any questions or donations.
